The screenshot shows a Linux desktop environment. In the foreground, a web browser window titled "ASE Web Services" is open at the URL "http://localhost:8181/". The browser displays a "Welcome to the ASE Web Services" page. The page includes a navigation menu on the left with sections: "Web Methods" (with a link to "Execute"), "Administration" (with a link to "Configuration Producer"), "Log" (with links to "Producer", "Consumer", and "HTTP"), "Samples" (with links to "Java Client" and "Microsoft .NET Client"), and "Documentation" (with a link to "User's Guide"). The main content area contains two diagrams. The top diagram, titled "ASE Web Services Producer", shows a "Web Services Client" (represented by a computer icon) connected to a "Web Services Producer" (represented by a server icon) via "HTTP / SOAP", which in turn connects to "ASE" (represented by a server icon) via "JDBC". The bottom diagram, titled "ASE Web Services Consumer", shows a "User" (represented by a computer icon) connected to "ASE" (represented by a server icon) via "iSQL / JDBC", which then connects to a "Web Services Consumer" (represented by a server icon) via "HTTP / SOAP", which finally connects to a "Web Service" (represented by a server icon). A terminal window in the background shows the command prompt and the execution of the ASE Web Services Producer.
